Use the riddles to help you find all five places!

HINTS: Use the map on the back to help you explore!
Look for the interpretive signs posted in each garden.

RIDDLE 1

Surrounded by bushes and flagstones of grey,
Not on land but in water I play.
I have no fears as orange scales I display
since a metal feline can't ruin my day!

RIDDLE 2

The gates to my garden are metal and wide,
showing the flowers that I grow inside.
My colors are bright when I bloom in late spring,
and you're sure to notice the scent that I bring.

RIDDLE 3

A species old as dinosaurs,
once thought to be living no more,
was shockingly found in Sichuan Province's* ground.
They now grow at Scott by the score!

*in central China

RIDDLE 4

A garden behind Parrish Hall,
Shows the tropics from summer to fall.
The plants are taken inside
In the winter to hide,
re-emerging at next spring's call.

RIDDLE 5

Standing on my stone steps,
You may peer into the Crum.
When seniors don their gowns and caps,
to me is where they come.
